

Dear Friends,

I am writing to you today to give you my full support for the second edition of The Queer Culture Festival. You are right to defend values such as tolerance as well as cultural and sexual diversity.

As I sang few years ago, 'The Difference', is also a value that you should be proud of. You are aware that the difference, disturbs, scares, and sometimes leads people to commit acts of violence. I have faced the criticism, a lot of rumors floated around me. That could have made me doubt and abandon, but I never lost hope and confidence. Belief in itself is a strength and assume its difference is just as much.

Be proud of who you are, never look-down to someone who wants you to doubt or afraid you, keep going to assert your difference. It is a right. Never give up!

*With all my love,
Lara*
